

Privacy Policy

iQ Education is committed to protecting your privacy in all our dealings with you, whether through our website or through direct contact with our consultants. When using our website, we want you to have a safe and secure experience. We will endeavour to ensure that the information you submit to us remains private, and is only used for the purposes set out in this policy.

The purpose of this Privacy Notice is to tell you what information iQ Education (the trading name of Alcam Consultancy Ltd) (“The Company”) collects from you, how and when it may be collected and what happens to it. For the purpose of this Privacy Policy, “we” and “us” refer to The Company.

Personal Information is any personally identifiable information, such as your email address, name, home or work address, telephone number, bank details or tax codes, which can directly or indirectly identify you. We refer to it as “Personal Information” here.

1. What information might we collect about you?

When you interact with us in the different ways described below, we may ask you for the following information:

- personal and contact details (for example your name, email address, date of birth, gender and your choice of language with which you wish to interact with us);
- personal and contact details you give us when subscribing to receive emails, newsletters or marketing information from us;
- during pre-assignment vetting we will request details from you including, your name, your work history, qualifications, contact details (such as email, telephone number and home address), your right to work documents, details required for equality and discrimination legislation checks and your personal preferences, choices and requirements specific to particular requests or services;
- details of your education, employment history, bank details and national insurance number, references, right to work and other information you tell us about yourself (e.g. the information contained within your CV) when you engage with us for the provision of services;
- your IP address;
- information from social media activity (such as likes, shares and tweets) when you interact with us on social media;
- information you provide if you report a problem with our website or service;
- additional information which you provide voluntarily and/or which we may ask from you to better understand you and your interests.
- We may also collect sensitive Personal Information about you (including details of your physical or mental health, racial or ethnic origin, criminal allegations or offences, trade union membership and/or other sensitive Personal Information that you may choose to provide to us voluntarily from time to time.

2. How, when and why do we collect your Personal Information?

We may collect your Personal Information when you apply for a role through us (or otherwise contact us from time to time) by:

- responding to an advert on a job board or other website;
- by directly contacting our business;

Your privacy is important

- by filling in an application form in a branch;
- when you speak to one of our consultants by telephone; or
- another agency or organisation passes your details to us.

Why do we collect your Personal Information?

We collect and use your Personal Information because it is necessary to obtain certain details including Personal Information from you in the work-searching process and it is in our legitimate interests in the course of operating our business, including:

- responding to your queries;
- providing work-finding services and/or information to you;
- transmitting Personal Information between our offices or functions for internal administrative purposes;
- setting you up on a work assignment with a client;
- hosting and maintaining our websites;
- ensuring network and information security; and/or
- carrying out direct marketing.

However we will only collect, use and handle your Personal Information when:

- it is necessary for our legitimate interests in connection with carrying out our business, as long as, in each case, these interests are in line with applicable law and your legal rights;
- and/or where you have agreed;
- and/or where this is necessary for legal obligations which apply to us.

3. How we use the Personal Information that you provide to us

We undertake the following processing of your Personal Information on the legal basis that it is necessary to perform the contract with you and to provide the services we have agreed to provide to you. Where we have not entered into a contract with you, we may also carry out this processing because in that pre-contractual stage where we consider it is necessary in our legitimate business interests in order to deal with requests, enquiries or comments you have made to us.

Submission of details to clients – if you register to apply for a particular role, request to be put forward for a role or if you have asked us to put you forward for suitable roles, we will share some of your personal details including your name, work history and qualifications with our clients offering potential roles which might be suitable for you.

On-boarding for a work-assignment – If you are offered and accept a work assignment through us, we will need further Personal Information from you such as NI number, bank details, emergency contact details and some medical information in order to fulfil our statutory and contractual obligations to both you and our client.

Reporting to clients and managing timesheets, payroll and work performance – We sometimes have to prepare reports for clients relating to the services provided by us for example reports on financial or administrative matters or compliance with legal requirements. Such reports may contain your Personal Information such as your name, hours worked and pay rate. In addition we may need to manage submission of timesheets, payroll services and other Human Resourcing services such as managing your statutory rights and work appraisals for our clients, all of which would require use of your Personal Information.

Your privacy is important

Other lawfully permitted processing – We may also use any Personal Information that you provide to us for example to other companies within the The Company or to employers or any other company who you ask us to approach on your behalf for work-searching purposes.

Statutory reporting requirements – We may also have an obligation to provide Personal Information to stakeholders such as HMRC - in which case Personal Information such as your name, address, date of birth, national insurance number, dates worked, hours worked and rate of pay will be provided to them on request.

If you choose not to provide Personal Information requested by us, we may not be able to provide you with the services and/or information you have requested or otherwise fulfil the purpose(s) for which we have asked for the Personal Information, including placing you in a work-assignment. We will where possible anonymise or aggregate such data for reporting purposes.

We undertake Pre-Assignment vetting:

Pre-Assignment vetting – we collect your Personal Information which you provide to us when applying for a role or registering for our job-finding services to comply with our (and clients') legal obligations regarding your right to work and any necessary qualifications for roles. We may also process your Personal Information for this purpose where we consider it necessary for performance of the contract with you, or otherwise with your consent.

We undertake the following processing of your Personal Information with your consent: Marketing – where legally permitted to do so where you have provided us with your contact details and have agreed to be contacted for marketing purposes, we may contact you by telephone, email or by post for marketing purposes relating to our services, our website, and/or to research opinion on proposed business developments. Your agreement to the use of your Personal Information for these purposes is optional and if you fail to provide your agreement, your use of our work-finding services will not be affected. You are entitled to opt-out from receipt of marketing communication at any time by advising us accordingly.

4. How and when do we share information with third parties?

Some services that we provide require the involvement of third parties. We have carefully selected these third parties and taken steps to ensure that your Personal Information is adequately protected. The third parties may include our clients, suppliers of payrolling and other related services and suppliers providing vetting and safeguarding services pertinent to our industry.

Where we employ third party companies or individuals to process Personal Information provided by us on our behalf for business functions, including (without limitation) IT support, hosting our data on cloud platforms, legal, accounting, audit, consulting and other professional service providers, and providers of other services related to our business:

- Portions of our services may be provided by organisations with which we have a contractual relationship, including subcontractors, and, accordingly, your Personal Information may be disclosed to them. We only provide these organisations with the information that they need to be able to perform their services.

Your privacy is important

- We will have in place an agreement with our service providers which will restrict how they are able to process your Personal Information.

Sharing within the The Company and to Service Providers:

The Personal Information you provide to us is collected by The Company as listed at Annex 1 below. However where we are legally permitted to do so in accordance with this Privacy Policy, we may transfer your Personal Information between and to other functions or offices within the same corporate group for the purposes set out above.

International Transfers of your Personal Information:

We may share your Personal Information with our third party service providers based in the European Economic Area (“EEA”) who we engage to help us to process the information that we collect from you as part of our business function, and/or to host and maintain our CRM systems, content or services, on our behalf and in accordance with this Privacy Policy. We will let you know in advance if we need to transfer your Personal Information to any third party service providers located outside of the EEA and we will only transfer your Personal Information outside of the EEA:

- where the transfer is to a place that is regarded by the European Commission as providing adequate protection for your Personal Information; or
- where we have put in place appropriate safeguards, for example by using a contract for the transfer which contains specific data protection provisions that have been adopted by the European Commission or a relevant data protection authority.

You can request a copy of these contracts by contacting us at info@iqeducation.co.uk or where you have consented to it, or there is another legal basis to allow us to make the transfer.

Sharing with other third parties:

We may also provide your information to other third parties such as regulators and law enforcement agencies, where we are required by law to do so, where necessary for the purposes of preventing and detecting fraud, other criminal offences and/or to ensure network and information security.

5. How long do we store Personal Information for?

It is our policy to retain your Personal Information for the length of time required for the specific purpose or purposes for which it was collected, which are set out in this Privacy Policy. However, on occasion we may be obliged to store some data for a longer time, for example, where a longer time period is required by applicable laws. In this case, we will ensure that your Personal Data will continue to be treated in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

6. Security and Confidentiality

We employ appropriate security measures to help protect your Personal Information and guard against access by unauthorised persons. Information storage is on secure computers in a secure environment, or in secure, locked storage in the case of hard copy information. The information is encrypted wherever possible and we undergo periodic reviews of our security policies and procedures to ensure that our systems is secure and protected. However the transmission of information via the Internet is not completely secure so we cannot guarantee the security of your information when it is transmitted to our website or from third party websites such as job boards.

Your privacy is important

We acknowledge that the information you provide may be confidential. We do not sell, rent, distribute or otherwise make Personal Information commercially available to any third party, but we may share information with our service providers for the purposes set out in this Privacy Policy. We will keep your information confidential and protect it in accordance with our Privacy Policy and all applicable laws.

7. Your rights

It is important to us that you are in control of your own information. As a result, we offer the following controls:

You may withdraw your consent to receiving marketing at any time by emailing info@iqeducation.co.uk writing "UNSUBSCRIBE GDPR" in the subject line. Alternatively you can of course contact us by telephone on 020 3983 7722.

You may request access to or copies of the Personal Information that we hold about you and you can update the personal information we hold by emailing info@iqeducation.co.uk. Alternatively you can of course contact us by telephone on 020 3983 7722.

You may request that we restrict our processing;

You may request that your Personal Information be deleted, where it is no longer necessary for the purposes for which it is being processed and provided there is no other lawful basis for which we may continue to process such information;

- To the extent we are processing your Personal Information to meet our legitimate interests (as set out above), you may object to the processing of your Personal Information by us. If we are unable to demonstrate our legitimate grounds for that processing, we will no longer process your Personal Information for those purposes;
- You may object to our processing as set out above;
- You may withdraw any consent given to processing; or
- Where we are processing your Personal Information automatically for the purposes of performing our contract with you, you may have the right to request that the Personal Information we hold about you be transferred to a third party data controller;

Where we may undertake automated decision-making we will request your explicit consent if the decision-making is not authorised by law or necessity for the performance of a contract. You may also request that we restrict the processing of your data to that to which you have consented or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or the protection of the rights of another person, whilst we verify your data as set out in point 2 above; pending verification of our legitimate grounds as set out in point 4 above; or if the processing is unlawful or no longer necessary, but you wish us to retain your data for the purposes of establishing, exercising or defending legal claims.

Please contact info@iqeducation.co.uk and we will assist you and provide you with all rights to which you are entitled in relation to your Personal Information under applicable data protection law.

If you are unhappy with the way that we have handled your Personal Information, you can make a complaint to the Information Commissioners Office (ICO) which is the UK authority responsible for data protection. Contact details are available online, or alternatively please speak to us on 020 3983 7722 or email info@iqeducation.co.uk for assistance.

Your privacy is important

CONTACT US:

If you have any questions in relation to this Privacy Policy, or if you would like to contact us to exercise your rights as stated in this Privacy Policy, please contact your consultant at iQ Education or you may contact us via email at info@iqeducation.co.uk

iQ Education is the trading name of Alcam Consultancy Limited
Coppergate House, 10 Whites Row, London E1 7NF
T:020 3983 7722 E:info@iqeducation.co.uk
W:www.iqeducation.co.uk
A company registered in England & Wales 09825721